Tweet for Thought

Without a relationship with God, your worship is pure obligation; without a relationship with our Heavenly Father, your worship is also meaningless and in vain.

In many countries around the world, we celebrate Father's Day this weekend. Many of us choose to shower our fathers with gifts or dinner treats because we love and appreciate them. Our hearts respond to their love and sacrifice, not out of obligation.

In the same way, our worship of God should flow from our hearts out of love for Him. Without a relationship with God, worshipping God becomes ritualistic - a blip in our schedule, a lifting of hands, a singing of songs. The Pharisees in the Bible were very zealous in adhering religiously to times of worship and Scripture, but their ceremonies were meaningless and void of relationship with God. On the other hand, everything that Jesus did - whether in times of solitude and prayer, or in ministering to crowds - was out of love of His Heavenly Father.

Church, let's celebrate relationship with our Heavenly Father and earthly fathers this weekend. Let's honor our Heavenly Father and respond in love by worshipping Him with everything within us! Let's honor our biological and spiritual fathers for their sacrifices - seen and unseen - by thanking, blessing or even praying for them. Happy Father's Day!
