

Care & Connect continues!

Bring a Friend
Connect the Friend

My Colleagues and Ex-classmates

I want to thank God for His favour and boldness whenever I invite my colleagues and friends to church events. Each year, I am in charge of twisting and selling balloons for my school's annual carnival.

At times, some of my colleagues would ask me to show them how to twist balloons into animals and flowers. So I took the opportunity to invite them to Trinity's Life Skills Seminar on Balloon Sculpting.

Two of my colleagues turned up for the seminar and enjoyed themselves. One of them even brought her friend along.

Subsequently, I invited them to the Young Adult event Medley of Food. They came again and another colleague who came to know of it also came. One of my colleagues asked if three of her friends could come too! I gladly registered for them. There were six of them in all. They commented that the atmosphere in Trinity is vibrant and warm!

Shiyun & Eveleen

Recently, I met up with some ex-classmates whom I had not met for 10 years. I found out that there were a few pre-believers and backslidden Christians in this group. Subsequently, I connected with them through MSN and Facebook. One of them came for the Life Skills Seminar "Sharpening Your People Skills" and enjoyed himself. He also made new friends and is open to come to our celebration services. Another friend also showed interest in attending our celebration service after I chatted with her over MSN and prayed for her over her job situation.

My mission is to continue to sow a "God-awareness" among my friends. During conversations, I try to be deliberate in instilling a godly value or to share a testimony whenever possible. I always try to end my conversations by offering to pray for them or asking if they have a need that I can keep them in prayer. I will pray and God will do the rest as He answers my prayers and meets their needs!

Eveleen Ng, teacher
North, Trinity@Adam

Trinitarians are seeing incredible results as they continue to care and connect. Read on to discover how God is connecting lives and meeting needs in marvelous ways.

My Husband & Daughter

Ever since I received Christ two years ago, I would attend the celebration services every Sunday with my mother and sister. Even though they were with me, I felt lonely. The feeling of loneliness just would not go away. It just felt incomplete coming to church without my husband and daughter. I kept on praying for my family's salvation, praying that God would open their hearts to receive Jesus.

In February this year, I invited my husband, Freddie, to our cell gathering. To my surprise, he agreed. At that time, he was having a bad cough, and the cell prayed for his healing. On Sunday, I invited him to the Chinese service, and he agreed.

He came – and accepted Christ as his Lord and Saviour! I was amazed and overjoyed! God healed his cough. What's more, he has been smoking for forty years and God healed him of his smoking addiction – just like that! He now comes with me to service and cell every week.

Chew Hua & Freddie

My daughter Cindy saw the peace and joy in her father's life. She was very touched by God's work in his life. When we invited her to the Easter event in church, she came and was touched by God's love. When the pastor gave the altar call for salvation, she put up her hand without anyone prompting her. With great joy we walked with her to the altar! God is faithful indeed, and His great power has touched my family mightily! I strongly believe in the promise of the Lord, that when one is saved, the whole family will be saved too! Praise the Lord!

Seah Chew Hua, childcare teacher
Chinese Ministry

Care & Connect continues!

Find a Need
Meet the Need

The Need for Practical Help

Our cell member Ya Qun is a private school student who is taking her 'O' Level exams this year. Unfortunately, she missed her Chinese oral exam, rendering her Chinese paper void and resulting in an incomplete 'O' Level certificate. If she wanted to retake the exam, she would have to do so next year, thus incurring another year of expenses in Singapore.

This was a big setback to her. She asked her school to let her retake her oral exams but the school staff said that was not possible, even though she was not the only one in this predicament. She was very lost. Our carecell rallied around her and supported her through prayer and appeals. Gary, a cell member, helped her write a letter of appeal. I also accompanied her to MOE to appeal. She was told that there was very little chance of success. She was very down.

But then, God made the 'impossible' happen! After a long wait, she was told that they would consider her case if she would submit a letter verifying that she was a private student. She had difficulty getting this letter from her school. The cell continued to pray. Then Gary accompanied her to see the school staff to ask for the verification letter. Praise God, the school staff finally faxed the verification letter to the Ministry of Education.

Ya Qun & Florence

A miracle arrived one week later: She received a call informing that she had achieved an A1 result and would not need to take the oral exam! Ya Qun was so happy and excited! Our cell was overjoyed too. We know that it is God who makes the impossible possible. God's grace really knows no bounds.

Florence Yong, educator
East, Trinity@Paya Lebar

