

God healed our little girl!

Worried about their daughter's skin condition, Sam and Suzanna Pang prayed for a miracle. They received it at Trinity's Power Weekend in August.

In December last year, Sam and Suzanna Pang started to notice a little pearl-like “bump” on their daughter Joy’s cheek. Thinking that it was just a couple of pimples, they were not worried.

However, within a short span of two months, more little pimples started to form around her cheek and between her nose and upper lips.

They consulted a specialist at National Skin Center and Joy’s condition was diagnosed as molluscum, a skin disease caused by a virus. The clusters of tiny pearly bumps were actually benign tumors. Most kids’ immune system are able to fight the virus, but some can’t. They were given some cream to apply on her face and told to come back after a month.

However, instead of getting better, the dots spread to other parts of Joy’s face. Clusters of bumps started to form around her eyes, on her neck, forehead and even arms and legs. The family continued to return to National Skin Center month after month, and the doctor’s assessment was the same each time: “Keep using the cream and the child will build up her own immune system and may recover within 6 months, or it may take up to 2 years.”

Sam’s sense of helplessness was understandable. “At the rate the bumps were growing, I really could not bear to imagine how Joy would look like in a year’s time,” he said.

Desperate, they sought help from various practitioners of traditional Chinese medicine, recommended by family and friends, the sinseh said they had never seen anything like this.

All this while, Sam and Suzanna prayed with Joy every night at bedtime, asking God to heal her. “I was confident that God would heal Joy, but, at the same time, I was worried about the worsening condition,” confessed Sam.

Eight months after Joy developed this skin condition, the family attended Trinity’s “I Need a Miracle!” Power Weekend. They went to Trinity twice over that weekend to ask God for healing. Sam recalls that “on our second visit, Rev Jimmy Mutebi, the lively African preacher, said that as Christians, we are all empowered to heal and we must claim God’s awesome power. He asked those who need healing to place their hands over those areas that needed God’s healing. Suzanna and I cupped our hands over Joy’s face and we prayed.”

That weekend was indeed a miracle weekend for the family. Sam testifies, “For 8 months, those dots on Joy’s face just kept growing. Yet days after the Power Weekend, those bumps started to turn reddish, burst and new skin formed over it. Within two weeks, the dots on Joy’s face disappeared.

Now, Joy’s face is as smooth as her baby sister’s skin!”

He says, “We want to proclaim that God is faithful and true. We have learnt to trust in Him and will continue to look to Him for guidance, comfort and wisdom. All Glory to God!”
